You can arrange additional cover online via the insurer's website for accidental damage or all risks on high-value items such as mobile phones and laptops.

Car parking

Parking on campus is restricted and our green transport strategy encourages students not to bring cars on to the campus. If you live on campus you may not bring your car to the University, the only exception is for students with severe disabilities. Students who live off campus, outside designated postcode areas of Canterbury city centre, can apply for a permit. Eligible students can apply for a parking permit from the Estates Department after arriving at Kent. See www.kent.ac.uk/estates/transport/index.html for further information about parking and our excellent local transport facilities.

Other facilities on campus

ACCOMMODATION ON CAMPUS AT CANTERBURY

DID YOU KNOW?

Canterbury city centre with its world-famous Cathedral, part of a World Heritage Site, and a lively mix of bars, restaurants and shops, is only a 25-minute walk or a short bus-ride from the campus.

OFF-CAMPUS ACCOMMODATION AT CANTERBURY

Accredited housing

Canterbury has an accreditation scheme for student housing, which is designed to recognise landlords who are concerned for the health, safety and welfare of their student tenants. These landlords have agreed to follow a Code of Conduct to ensure fair, efficient management of their properties, to confirm that they are of a high standard and that they meet all legal obligations. All students are advised to rent only from landlords who are members of this scheme. For more details see www.homestamp.co.uk

New students

If you decide to live off campus in your first year of study, it would be best to arrange a short stay in a guest house or hotel prior to arrival in Canterbury. This will enable you to personally look at the various types of off-campus accommodation available and make the choice that most closely matches your budget and other requirements. It is not advisable to agree to rent or make payment for any private accommodation unseen.

Second to final-year students

Second to final-year students are expected to join with friends to rent houses or flats off campus in Canterbury or the surrounding area.

Canterbury is a welcoming and student-friendly city, just a 25-minute walk or 10-minute bus-ride from the campus. Much of its medieval history is evident in its ancient streets and buildings. The city centre has a cosmopolitan atmosphere, as befits Britain's closest city to continental Europe.

The 2014/15 rental levels for a single room in a shared self-catered house off-campus range from £85 to £100 a week, excluding utility bills. Most private landlords require students to commit to housing agreements that cover 52 weeks.

The Accommodation Office website contains a downloadable housing guide and links to maps, plus useful information about renting properties in the local area.

Kent and Canterbury

The county of Kent is known as the 'Garden of England' and offers you an opportunity to live and study in one of the most picturesque areas of the country. The nearest seaside town to Canterbury is Whitstable, offering water sports including windsurfing, yachting and water-skiing. The coastal towns of Herne Bay, Ramsgate, Margate, Deal and Broadstairs are also close by.

Transport links

London is just under an hour away by high-speed train and there is a frequent coach service to London and beyond. You can be in Paris or Brussels in around two hours by train from the Channel Tunnel at Folkestone or the Eurostar terminal at Ashford and cross-channel ferries sail daily from Dover to Calais and Dunkirk.

EUROPEAN CENTRES

University of Kent, Athens

Accommodation

Kent does not offer University accommodation in Athens but a list of suitable accommodation in Eleusina or central Athens is provided to all students studying on the Heritage Management MA. We can advise on arranging your own rented accommodation and liaise with landlords on your behalf. Please contact the local administrator for more details (heritage@aueb.gr).

Location

The centre is ideally located in the Athenian suburb of Eleusina, the birthplace of Aeschylus and one of the most important archaeological religious sites in the world as a location of the Eleusinian Mysteries. The centre of Athens is only 30km away, and as such you have close access to many other major historical sites including the Parthenon, Ancient Corinth, Nemea and Thebes.

Transport links

Athens is served by Eleftherios Venizelos International Airport 35km away. The city has excellent transport links, including buses, rail, metro and tram services.

Brussels

Accommodation

Kent does not offer accommodation in Brussels, but there are many affordable private rental options available and students usually find a place to live shortly after arrival. Studio apartments, with all charges (utility) included, cost around €550-700 a month and a one-bedroom apartment is around €650-850 a month. Most students choose to share an apartment and this will cost around €650-800, including utilities.

Brussels School of International Studies, the University of Kent's Brussels centre, is located in the student district between our partner universities, Vrije Universiteit Brussel (VUB) and the Université Libre de Bruxelles (ULB). Much of the housing is a short walk from the University and is designed for students in layout and price.

Notices of available apartments, many of which are being vacated by outgoing Brussels School of International Studies students, are also sent to incoming students via LISTSERV, an automatic electronic mailing list.

Modern city campus

The centre has its own purpose-designed facilities, a 15-minute drive from the centre of Brussels and close to a metro station, a train station and regular bus and tram services. Kent students have full access to all the facilities on the VUB and ULB campuses, including libraries, public computers, bars, cafés and sports facilities.

Local attractions

Brussels is a diverse city, with architecture ranging from medieval rampart walls to the impressive modern architecture built to house several institutions of the European Union. Popular attractions in the city include the Grand Place square with its Gothic and baroque architecture, the 15th-century Hôtel de Ville, and the Cathedral of St Michael and St Gudula. Brussels has over 80 museums and many beautiful parks and open spaces, including the Parc du Cinquantenaire.

Transport links

While Brussels is a relatively small city for a European capital and is easy to get around on foot, the public transport system is very good and makes it easy to travel quickly around the city. Buses, trams and metros run on a regular schedule and are generally very reliable.

Etterbeek railway station is 50 metres from our Brussels centre and provides regular connections with Schuman, Brussels Nord and Brussels Midi stations. Tram lines 23, 24 and 90 also stop at Etterbeek and the University is a short walk, across the VUB Etterbeek campus, from the Pétillon metro station.

Brussels has excellent transport links with other European cities.

For instance, Paris is only two hours away by train. Ashford (near our Canterbury campus), Ebbsfleet (near our Medway campus) and London can be reached by the Eurostar service in under two hours. Brussels also has a major international airport.

University of Kent, Paris Accommodation

Some of the degree courses at the University of Kent can be taken in Canterbury and Paris. Students who are studying on the University of Kent at Paris programmes may choose to live in on-campus accommodation while studying at the Canterbury campus. To apply for University accommodation, please contact the Accommodation Office.

We offer advice to help students find suitable accommodation in Paris. One option is to stay with a host family. There are also several organisations to help you find short-term accommodation, as well as private agencies. Another source of information is the Francofil mailing list, used by short-term students seeking/offering accommodation in Paris. Our International Development office also has up-to-date information, recommendations from returning students, contacts in Parisian universities and many years of experience in advising students seeking accommodation in Paris.

Location

Our Paris centre is situated at Columbia Global Center (known as Reid Hall), in the historic heart of Montparnasse, a few minutes' walk from the Jardin du Luxembourg. Reid Hall occupies traditional buildings grouped around two quiet and leafy inner courtyards. It was founded as a porcelain factory in the 18th century and has served as a centre for teaching and research since 1834. Kent postgraduates use facilities at Reid Hall alongside postgraduate students from Columbia University, Barnard College and Dartmouth College.

Transport links

Paris is served by three main airports: Charles de Gaulle, Orly and Beauvais-Tillé, offering international and domestic connections.

Eurostar services to Lille, London, Ebbsfleet, near Medway, and Ashford, near Canterbury, depart from the Gare du Nord station in the centre of Paris and high-speed Thalys trains connect you to Brussels and other northern European cities.

The city's metro system and an excellent city bus network mean you will be able to discover Paris easily and cheaply. Suburban train services, Réseau Express Régional (RER), connect you directly to the airports and other main train stations. Reid Hall is a five-minute walk from the metro stations Vavin and Raspail and close to the RER station Port-Royal, where you can take a direct train to the Gare du Nord.

Kent does not offer University accommodation to students on our MA programmes in Rome, at the American University of Rome (AUR). However the AUR can help students to find suitable accommodation in furnished two- and three-bedroom apartments near to the campus with two people sharing a room. Or you may find your own accommodation.

University of Kent staff are present for part of the spring term in Rome to ensure continuity of academic guidance and pastoral support.

Location

The American University of Rome's campus is in the picturesque Monteverde district, just a short bus ride to the historic centre of Rome.
